

STATEMENT OF COMPLIANCE CHILDREN'S ONLINE PRIVACY PROTECTION ACT (COPPA)

XAP Corporation is committed to the protection of children on the Internet. As such, it has integrated COPPA compliance features into its products to protect the private information of children under the age of 13 years old.

During the process of creating an account, a user is required to provide their date of birth. If the child is determined to be under 13 years of age, XAP will not collect or store any personally identifiable data. This includes restricting users from accessing features that could result in data being collected that would uniquely identify the child.

To ensure the highest level of compliance, XAP consulted with legal experts to determine what features and functions of the application needed to be modified. All the recommended changes were made and, to the best of our knowledge, XAP conforms to the regulations outlined in COPPA.